Monday Was Gala Day For Yale Chapter O. E. S.

Many Members from Other Towns
Were Present to Help With The Work

With beautiful weather and good roads, members of the O. E. S. gathered from Memphis, Capac, Brown City, Peck and Port Huron on Monday, and made Yale their destination, with the object of attending the initiation, school of instruction and installation going put on that afternoon and evening.

Local officers opened the Chapter, but the ceremony of initiation of candidates into the order was performed very nicely and effectively by Ain Ata Chapter from Memphis.

After this followed the school of instruction given by Mrs. Elsie Stevenson, Grand Electa. The lessons proved of much benefit to all concerned.

This brought the time up to the hour for supper and all adjourned to the dining room of the M. E. church, where tables were set and prettily decorated for the occasion. About one hundred and twenty-five sat down to a splendid feast of good things and all enjoyed it heartily.

Back in the Masonic hall, the evening program was opened at 8:00 o'clock with Elwin Pond, Associate Grand Patron as Installing officer, and Mrs. Edith Brink, Grand Warder, as Marshal. The officers to be installed marched in and took their places. At this time a humorous reading was given by Mrs. Edna Peacock, which set all into gales of laughter, and then the work of installation was taken up and the newly installed officers received their badges and positions.

The remainder of the evening was given over to a pleasant little address by the newly installed Worthy Matron of Yale Chapter, Mrs. Rhea Andrae; a quaint little recitation and old-time step by Master Walter Herbert and Mistress Joy Phillips, who were delightful as Grandma and Grandpa in olden days; the presentation of gifts to the Grand officers present, Mrs. Elsie Stevenson, Mrs. Edith Brink and Elwin Pond, and a very pretty and impressive march by old officers and floral presentation in honor of the now past Worthy Matron, Pearl MacDonald, finished with an address by Mrs. Howell, and a gift to Miss MacDonald of the Past Matron's jewel, to which she feelingly responded.

The evening was nicely ended with a Community sing, led by Fredda Holden.

All in charge of the arrangements for the day feel that everything passed off very well and that all efforts made for a pleasant, enjoyable and instructive time were worth while.

DATES SET FOR

S. S. MEETINGS

District Conventions Throughout County in June

The St. Clair County Sunday school association has arranged the dates for its various district conventions which will be held in June.

Dr. R. M. Crissman is chairman of publicity and has submitted the following list, which has been approved:

Synopsis

ACT I—The most unheard of thing is happening today; Mrs. Tobin and her son George are coming—but time does work changes doctor.—Music, Artistic! That's so bad. Coming today, but we don't even know his name.—Good heavens, I've lost my character.—I think I shall call you William.—Oh, Benny, dear here I am it last.

Topsy-Turvey Song—Grade Children, directed by Mildred Ruh.

ACT II—Mother, oh, Mother!—Dear me! What has upset you.—Do you want me to start calling you "Pa" now?—What's the matter, Benny? You don't act one bit like your letters said you felt.—Tut, tut! Cut out the bath in the presence of ladies.—Extraordinary goings on, don't you think?

Song—"Three Little Maids From the Mikado"—Grace Menzies, Jean Hodgins and Helen Palmer

ACT III—Everyone in the house saw you in her arms.—But I tell you it was the wrong woman.—For land's sake! Here I was ready to take the plunge; it's a good thing you told me, George.—It's all a mistake, Algy.—This is sheer blackmail.—The minister is waiting in the front parlor.

WILL ASSEMBLE WOOL AT MEMPHIS AND AVOCA

Arrangements have finally been completed for the assembling of wool by the St. Clair County Farm Bureau at the Memphis Farm Bureau Elevator and at the warehouse of the Avoca Milling Co., at Avoca.

Instead of assembling at various points over the county and shipping it to a central warehouse in the state to be graded, it will be graded at the two points mentioned above by expert graders from the Wool Department of the State Farm Bureau. There are several advantages to be gained by this method. Chief of these is that of education. The wool growers of the county will have an opportunity to take their wool to these points and see it graded. A representative of the Wool Department will also be present to explain the various grades and discuss the factors entering into the production of a higher standard or better quality of wool.

Arrangements have been made whereby the farmer may receive at the time of grading approximately one-half the market value for the different grades of wool on the day it is graded.

Grading dates for St. Clair county have not been given the Farm Bureau by the State Department. However, they will be during the latter part of June, possibly about the 20th. Interested persons should watch these columns for announcement of the grading dates which will appear probably in next week's issue.

Provision has been made for taking wool at these points any time between now and the dates of grading. In this case the farmer will be given a receipt for the number of fleeces or sacks of wool that he has in the pool.

State Wool pools are meeting favor of the various woolen mills. They are coming to realize the advantage and economy in being able to buy from the State Wool Pools the particular grades of wool which are used by their mills. Wool growers should protect their own interests by pooling their wool.

HORSE HURLS MAN DOWN DEEP RAVINE

An unusually realistic tumble over a cliff is shown in the Anita Stewart picture, "In Old Kentucky," which will be shown at Princess Theatre Tuesday May 31 and Wednesday, June 1. The villain, chased by night riders, is hurled from the saddle when his horse stumbles and thrown over its head. He slides to the bottom of a deep ravine.

CORRECTIONS IN POEM

Yale, Mich., May 14, 1921
Editor Expositor,
Yale, Michigan

Dear Sir:—May I call your attention to a few mistakes that crept in when the type was set for the poem printed in your paper this week? The line which reads "Hills, valleys, streams and bold sunshine" should end with the word "shorelines." Near the close the line beginning "Each proves more prosperous, etc.," should be "prove" instead of "proves," and the line following should begin with the word "note" instead of "not," as you have it. Will you kindly mention these corrections in your next week's issue? Thanking you in advance, I remain,

Cordially yours,
(Mrs. Jos.) Emily M. Yuill

FORD CAR STRIPPED

The farm home of John Shepherd was visited Wednesday night May 18, by thieves who entered the garage and took the Ford out and pushed it back in one of the fields. The car, which belonged to a son, Richard, was stripped, the wheels and everything that could be taken was removed, leaving nothing but the body.

By taking the car to the field, the thieves were able to work unmolested, and probably feel that they have done a neat job, but few get away with such work and no doubt the perpetrators of this night's work will soon have a chance to explain.—Brown City Banner.

Yale Public School Exhibit.

On Friday evening, 7:00 to 9:00, June 3, the school will be open for an exhibit of school work. The parents and others interested are invited to come. All grade children will have an opportunity to see the exhibit on Friday during the day. So we request that all children under the sixth grade not come in the evening unless accompanied by parents or adults. The high school orchestra will furnish music.

Newsy Notes From Neighboring Towns

HERB T. HENNESSY SELLS DRUG STORE

Last week the report was circulated throughout the city that Herb T. Hennessy had sold his drug stock and fixtures, together with his good will to Rawley G. Hallman, of Owosso, and Purl W. Harding, of Melvin, and this week the story has been confirmed and it is expected that the new owners will take possession in a very few days.

Mr. Hennessy's decision to sell his business and leave the city came as a surprise to his many friends and acquaintances, and he will be greatly missed in our business circles. Having spent most of his life here, we claim him as one of our boys who has Lexington will celebrate the Fourth.

Algonac will celebrate the Centennial July 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

Marlette may sell her municipal electric light plant to private interests.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus is to appear in Port Huron on Wednesday, June 1st.

Port Austin is badly hit with the bounty on hawks taken off. It's the principal sport up there.

The Club house of the St. Clair County club was formally opened on Wednesday of this week.

Romeo streets have been treated with a quantity of calcium chloride and the dust is eliminated.

A new, large and modern high school is to be built in St. Clair. John Bowen, of Detroit, has the contract for the general work.

For the first time in the history of the village, Armada will have a Chautauqua. The Radcliffe Chautauqua will put it on.

The Cass City post office has been raised to the second class with an increase in salary of $400 per annum for the postmaster.

The Senior class of Port Huron high school will give a Shakespearean play, "As You Like It," on Wednesday evening, June 1st, at the Majestic.

Mrs. Andrew Rattray, Algonac's "Grand Old Lady," was 102 years of age on May 16. Her sister, Mrs. Rachael Randall, aged 84, spent the day with her.

A county base ball league is being formed in Tuscola county. The towns in are Cass City, Caro, Unionville, Akron, Fairgrove, Vassar, Millington and Mayville.

Heretofore there was no way to ferry automobiles across the river at St. Clair. It was necessary to go to Marine City or Port Huron. Now it can be done at St. Clair.

Fred L. Foster, a pioneer shoe dealer of Port Huron, died very suddenly last week, while on a visit to a daughter in East Orange, N. J. Funeral services were held in Port Huron on Sunday last.

An auto belonging to John Muir of Valley Centre, was badly damaged when fire destroyed the ice house of George Douglas, at Algonac and the adjoining shed, where the automobile was housed at the time.

Recently the Huron county Red Cross voted to give all the war fund on hand, $1,800, for the benefit and use of the county athletic association. A vigorous protest is being made against this as many think the money could be expended in a better way.

John Russel White, the first Port Huron man to be killed in action in France during the late war, was brought home last week and given a military funeral. During the next month a score or more bodies will arrive in Port Huron from overseas and each will receive a military funeral.

Frank Kinna, Forester, Sanilac county youth, has been having a rather serious time from a dog bite wound on his leg. He took several Pasteur treatments at Ann Arbor and was sent home for developments, when his condition became alarming, and he went again. An operation showed an injury to the bone. He is now improving.

Arthur Donnelly, born in Speaker township 35 years ago, in later life living in Sandusky, then in Plymouth, died in Port Huron hospital last week after an operation for carbuncle on his arm. The infection had entered his system and he lived only a few hours after the operation. He leaves a wife and six small children.

HERB T. HENNESSY

Popular Druggist, Who Expects To Leave Yale Soon

made good. After learning the drug business and securing his diploma, he and Dr. A. Pollock bought the Grant Holden store, just about twenty years ago, and Herb has managed the institution very ably ever since. A few years later he bought Mr. Pollock's interest, and has built up a fine business. His genial ways have made him a host of friends.

Mr. Hennessy has held many positions of trust here since reaching man's estate, having held the office of city treasurer, mayor, and at present is treasurer of our board of education.

He has not decided as yet just where he will locate, but the best wishes of all will go with him and family to their new home.

The members of the new firm are by no means strangers to our people. Rawley G. Hallman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hallman, of this city, and spent most of his life here. He graduated from our high school, and for several years was a clerk in Mr. Hennessy's store. Purl W. Harding hailed from Melvin, and has been in the drug business in that village for several years. Both of these young men are hustlers, and we feel that they will make a success of the venture.

NOTICE

To the Water Users of the City of Yale:—

Please be considerate in the use of water until we have one or more wells cleaned and rescreened. Will start work on wells in about one week. Your co-operation in this matter will be appreciated.

Owing to the numerous complaints relative to the air in the water, causing the milky appearance, I wish to state that as soon as new pans can be procured for pressure tank to replace those that were broken when pressure tank was thrown out in summer of 1920, same tank will be placed back in commission to remove all air, and this objectionable feature will be eliminated.
